

Economic Affairs Scrutiny Panel

Tourism Public Private Partnership Review

The Economic Affairs Scrutiny Panel is undertaking a Review of the Tourism Public Private Partnership that is being proposed by the Minister for Economic Development. The Panel is aiming to identify whether the rationale behind the PPP is appropriate, whether the timing is right and to establish if alternatives to it have been given proper consideration. We will also be assessing the potential impact of the PPP on industry stakeholders, both public and private.

As a key part of our evidence gathering, we would like to hear your views as industry stakeholders, and invite you to submit your thoughts on the proposed changes to us.

Those who wish to provide the Panel with their views are asked to forward them in writing, by Friday 12th March, either by email at scrutiny@gov.je or by post to the Scrutiny Office, Morier House, Halkett Place, St Helier JE1 1DD. For any further information please contact the Panel's officer, Tim Oldham, on 441080 or by email at scrutiny@gov.je.

Yours sincerely,
